AAMCO Debuts New Service Center in Virginia

Local Center Will Offer Total Car Care Services to the Warrenton Community

HORSHAM, Pa. – AAMCO, the world's largest chain of transmission specialists and leader in total car care, is pleased to announce the opening of a new service center near the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area in Warrenton, Virginia. The new center located at 131 Broadview Avenue, Warrenton, Virginia, 20186 brings AAMCO's total number of greater Washington metropolitan service centers to 27.

AAMCO's service center in Warrenton offers residents the same high-quality auto repair experience they've come to expect from the auto repair chain. The center is convenient for residents and tourists of Northern Virginia. AAMCO aims to bolster Fauquier County's economic environment by bringing new business and employment opportunities to the area.

"At AAMCO Warrenton, we are committed to providing quality work and service to our customers," says Jimmy Andreas, the owner of AAMCO of Warrenton. "We look forward to assisting drivers with their total car care needs to get them safely back on the road again."

"At AAMCO, we are constantly looking for ways to expand and reach new communities," says Rob Rajkowski, chief operating officer at AAMCO. "Warrenton is a popular, scenic driving destination just outside of a major metropolitan market. Our reach into this community maintains our presence in a key market supporting our growth strategies."

The new service center will provide expert repair and service for its customers' Total Car Care needs. Services offered at AAMCO of Warrenton include automatic and manual transmission repair, rebuilding and replacement of clutch services, advanced computer diagnostics to identify and fix drivability problems and complete brake repair.

As a benefit to the Warrenton community, AAMCO is offering local car owners three promotional deals at its new service center. Visit AAMCO of Warrenton online to print these service deals.
